

Obedience

When Ken and Judy White moved to a retirement community in Eaton, Ohio, it meant a 30-minute drive to the Basore Road Grace Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, where they have been active members for nearly 20 years.

The couple could make the distance work on Sundays, but mid-week activities became increasingly difficult. After Basore Road Pastor Shannon Horst challenged the White's to create their own worship service, they decided to give church planting a try.

Ken recalled thinking the project was a great way to meet their neighbors—"because we had a reason to talk to them." Consequently, Ken and Judy knocked on all 45 doors in their community and invited their neighbors to sing, read Scripture, and share prayer requests with them. "We're going to have fellowship together," Ken said. Soon, the group began meeting every Thursday night.

This year has seen carry-in dinners, prayer meetings, engaging Scripture discussions, and carol sings. Looking back, it wasn't so important to consider what such a project would become, remembered Ken, "as it was to be obedient to what we thought we should do."

This story was first published at graceconnect.us/obedience-while-church-planting/. Go to graceconnect.us to subscribe to the weekly e-newsletter that tells how God is working through the people and churches in the Fellowship of Grace Brethren Churches.

GRACE
CONNECT.US

Obedience

When Ken and Judy White moved to a retirement community in Eaton, Ohio, it meant a 30-minute drive to the Basore Road Grace Brethren Church, Dayton, Ohio, where they have been active members for nearly 20 years.

The couple could make the distance work on Sundays, but mid-week activities became increasingly difficult. After Basore Road Pastor Shannon Horst challenged the White's to create their own worship service, they decided to give church planting a try.

Ken recalled thinking the project was a great way to meet their neighbors—"because we had a reason to talk to them." Consequently, Ken and Judy knocked on all 45 doors in their community and invited their neighbors to sing, read Scripture, and share prayer requests with them. "We're going to have fellowship together," Ken said. Soon, the group began meeting every Thursday night.

This year has seen carry-in dinners, prayer meetings, engaging Scripture discussions, and carol sings. Looking back, it wasn't so important to consider what such a project would become, remembered Ken, "as it was to be obedient to what we thought we should do."

This story was first published at graceconnect.us/obedience-while-church-planting/. Go to graceconnect.us to subscribe to the weekly e-newsletter that tells how God is working through the people and churches in the Fellowship of Grace Brethren Churches.

GRACE
CONNECT.US

