

Persistent Love

Osceola Grace Church in Osceola, Ind. is a small church with a big challenge: among the congregation are at least five families dealing with long-term care situations.

From the beginning, the church has rallied behind these families, giving additional support to their members whose health concerns range from Down syndrome, cerebral palsy, and spinal muscular atrophy (SMA) to physical mobility challenges and immune deficiency issues. This unique position gives Osceola Grace a front-and-center opportunity to learn and love in ways that many people never experience.

"God has been teaching us a lot about the whole concept of caring for people and what we're responsible to do," explained Pastor Greg Serafino. "We are in the process of trying to learn—as a leadership group and as a church—how to care for these people in the ways that meet their needs the most.

"We're praying that we can figure out the best way to handle long-term care situations and to really be there for people where they need us," he continued. "The opportunity to hear them gives us a chance to not just rebuild relationships but to grow and prepare ourselves for whatever God brings."

This story was first published at graceconnect.us/persistent-love/. Go to graceconnect.us to subscribe to the weekly e-newsletter that includes stories of how God is working among the people and churches of the Fellowship of Grace Brethren Churches.

GRACE
CONNECT.US

Persistent Love

Osceola Grace Church in Osceola, Ind. is a small church with a big challenge: among the congregation are at least five families dealing with long-term care situations.

From the beginning, the church has rallied behind these families, giving additional support to their members whose health concerns range from Down syndrome, cerebral palsy, and spinal muscular atrophy (SMA) to physical mobility challenges and immune deficiency issues. This unique position gives Osceola Grace a front-and-center opportunity to learn and love in ways that many people never experience.

"God has been teaching us a lot about the whole concept of caring for people and what we're responsible to do," explained Pastor Greg Serafino. "We are in the process of trying to learn—as a leadership group and as a church—how to care for these people in the ways that meet their needs the most.

"We're praying that we can figure out the best way to handle long-term care situations and to really be there for people where they need us," he continued. "The opportunity to hear them gives us a chance to not just rebuild relationships but to grow and prepare ourselves for whatever God brings."

This story was first published at graceconnect.us/persistent-love/. Go to graceconnect.us to subscribe to the weekly e-newsletter that includes stories of how God is working among the people and churches of the Fellowship of Grace Brethren Churches.

GRACE
CONNECT.US

